"Education is not preparation for life; education is life itself" - John Dewey

The guiding principles of I²IT are in consonance with Dewey's epochal saying. Since inception, I²IT has successfully endeavored to instill and inculcate the same feeling in its pupils thereby opening new vistas of creative and innovative exploration. To depart from the monotony of conventional education and assist the student kind to be primordial seekers, we have been facilitating an exchange between some of the most beautiful minds of the country and our student folk with an intention to enable them to engage in a dialogue with the leaders of Industry as well as Academia, thus laying the foundation of future leaders.

"In Conversation" with Dr Vijay Bhatkar is a step towards the same goal. It is a podium for the future leaders to experience and learn from the inspirational lives of the reigning ones who shall hold forth on their voyage and their incredible zeal which has propelled them to the zenith of success.

About Dr Vijay Bhatkar
Chief Mentor, I²IT

The underpinning mantra of I²IT is ‘Innovation and Leadership’. I believe that this mantra will propel India to emerge as a leading nation of the world. When India would be celebrating her centenary of freedom in the year 2047, I do not know whether I would still be there for that day, but I would like our I²IT students to experience that top-of-the-world feeling. Our students should be the architects of the realization of this dream.
